ABOUT

I am an architect with nearly a decade of professional experience, specializing in designing contextually responsive and environmentally sustainable projects. Passionate about design and storytelling, I love illustrating and exploring creative expressions beyond architecture. My work prioritizes functionality, aesthetics, and social impact, reflecting my commitment to advancing equitable and sustainable practices in the built environment. With a strong foundation in architectural principles and experience in design management, I am also dedicated to mentoring future architects and contributing to meaningful change in practice and education.
